

NVRB NEWSLETTER # 1

February 2019

Dear NVRB members,

In the past few months the NVRB board has been working very hard to set up a new online NVRB platform. You are reading the first newsletter and we have a new logo and website (www.nvrb.org) which is featuring various topics of interest for radiobiology researchers. Furthermore, we have a LinkedIn profile (<https://www.linkedin.com/company/nvrb/>) and Twitter account (@nvrb_org) where we post news. Please follow us and if you have an item to add, you can send it to info@nvrb.org.

Happy birthday to us!

We are celebrating the 60th anniversary of NVRB! On the 2nd of February of 1959 the NVRB was founded to support radiobiology in its broadest sense in the Netherlands. Since then, we are organizing scientific meetings and conferences in the field of radiobiology to stimulate open scientific discussions and networking. We are supporting all aspects of radiobiology, ranging from characterization of molecular events after ionizing radiation to the development of new strategies for clinical radiotherapy.

New board

During the NVRB fall meeting in Utrecht on November 16th 2018, the composition of the new NVRB board has been finalized. NVRB President Prof. Haico van Attikum (LUMC), Prof. Marcel van Vugt (UMCG) and Dr. Paul Span (Radboud UMC) have been joined by Dr. Julie Nonnekens (Erasmus MC) as the Secretary, Prof. Marc Vooijs (Maastricht UMC), Dr. Przemek Krawczyk (Amsterdam UMC) and Dr. Fieke Dekkers (RIVM).
